Congress is considering the repeal of the "Don't Ask, Don't Tell" law. This law generally requires that a Service member shall be separated if the member is found to have engaged in, or attempted to engage in, homosexual acts. The Department of Defense is now considering changes to this policy. A possible change would allow gay and lesbian Service members to serve in the military without risk of separation because of their sexual orientation. The next series of questions ask about putting such a policy in place.

If Don't Ask, Don't Tell is repealed, the Services will maintain their high standards of conduct. The same standards of conduct, decorum and appearance will apply to all Service members.
